About Our Program
The Anxiety Treatment Center is dedicated to increasing the understanding and treatment of anxiety disorders. The mission of this clinic is to provide state-of-the-art treatments with proven effectiveness. Services are available to children, adolescents, and adults.

State-of-the-Art Treatment
Highly trained therapists in cognitive-behavior therapy are responsible for implementing the program for individuals with excessive anxiety. Cognitive-behavior therapy involves the application of findings from scientific research to help individuals change. The therapy places a strong emphasis on changing behaviors that lead to anxiety. In addition, the therapy also focuses on changing patterns of thinking that lead to more anxiety.

An emphasis is placed on evaluating change throughout therapy, so progress can be monitored. Practice of the skills outside of session is also a big part of treatment. The therapist and client work together to determine the goals for therapy, the agenda for each session, home practice between sessions, the usefulness of each intervention, and how long to continue therapy.

What to Expect in Treatment
Some treatments may best be delivered in a short period, but with multiple sessions per week. Others may occur weekly. Therapy is problem-focused to relieve the current anxiety. Most of the therapies involve facing fears, which can be a very difficult process. However, previous research with the therapies used in this clinic display strong reductions in anxiety over a relatively short period of time. Thus, most clients can expect to have relief of symptoms relatively quickly.

The initial visit to the clinic consists of an evaluation by the clinic staff to determine current feelings and symptoms. This comprehensive evaluation provides vital information to provide the best treatment to the client. The evaluation is then discussed with the client with both the therapist and client working together to determine the goals of treatment. Treatment is then initiated.
