

Professional licensure Disclosure Statement
Abraham S. Fischler College of Education

Degree Title	Level	Degree
Education	Doctorate	Ed.D.

Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement: The Abraham S. Fischler College of Education’s programs are licensed by the State of Florida, and by the Nevada Commission on Postsecondary Education. The requirements for educator and administrator certification, licensure, or endorsement differ from state to state. Some states do not grant initial certification/licensure unless transcripts are endorsed as having met that state's approved program requirements. Because these requirements can change frequently and often without notice, it is encouraged, and is the responsibility of the student, to ensure the degree they earn will meet requirements for educator and administrator certification, licensure, or endorsement licensure in the state in which they seek licensure. The Abraham S. Fischler College of Education cannot confirm whether its professional licensure degree programs meets all of the licensure/certification requirements in a student’s state of residence and applicants should refer to their state licensing body for further information. A list of appropriate state licensing/certification entity is provided here: <http://www.nova.edu/academics/forms/state-doe-attachment.pdf>

Education	Master	M.S.
-----------	--------	------

Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement: The Abraham S. Fischler College of Education’s programs are licensed by the State of Florida, and by the Nevada Commission on Postsecondary Education. The requirements for educator and administrator certification, licensure, or endorsement differ from state to state. Some states do not grant initial certification/licensure unless transcripts are endorsed as having met that state's approved program requirements. Because these requirements can change frequently and often without notice, it is encouraged, and is the responsibility of the student, to ensure the degree they earn will meet requirements for educator and administrator certification, licensure, or endorsement licensure in the state in which they seek licensure. The Abraham S. Fischler College of Education cannot confirm whether its professional licensure degree programs meets all of the licensure/certification requirements in a student’s state of residence and applicants should refer to their state licensing body for further information. A list of appropriate state licensing/certification entity is provided here: <http://www.nova.edu/academics/forms/state-doe-attachment.pdf>

Education	Specialist	Ed.S.
-----------	------------	-------

Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement: The Abraham S. Fischler College of Education’s programs are licensed by the State of Florida, and by the Nevada Commission on Postsecondary Education. The requirements for educator and administrator certification, licensure, or endorsement differ from state to state. Some states do not grant initial certification/licensure unless transcripts are endorsed as having met that state's approved program requirements. Because these requirements can change frequently and often without notice, it is encouraged, and is the responsibility of the student, to ensure the degree they earn will meet requirements for educator and administrator certification, licensure, or endorsement licensure in the state in which they seek licensure. The Abraham S. Fischler College of Education cannot confirm whether its professional licensure degree programs meets all of the

Professional licensure Disclosure Statement
Abraham S. Fischler College of Education

Degree Title	Level	Degree
--------------	-------	--------

licensure/certification requirements in a student's state of residence and applicants should refer to their state licensing body for further information. A list of appropriate state licensing/certification entity is provided here: <http://www.nova.edu/academics/forms/state-doe-attachment.pdf>

Elementary Education	Bachelor	B.S.
----------------------	----------	------

Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement: The Abraham S. Fischler College of Education's programs are licensed by the State of Florida, and by the Nevada Commission on Postsecondary Education. The requirements for educator and administrator certification, licensure, or endorsement differ from state to state. Some states do not grant initial certification/licensure unless transcripts are endorsed as having met that state's approved program requirements. Because these requirements can change frequently and often without notice, it is encouraged, and is the responsibility of the student, to ensure the degree they earn will meet requirements for educator and administrator certification, licensure, or endorsement licensure in the state in which they seek licensure. The Abraham S. Fischler College of Education cannot confirm whether its professional licensure degree programs meets all of the licensure/certification requirements in a student's state of residence and applicants should refer to their state licensing body for further information. A list of appropriate state licensing/certification entity is provided here:

Exceptional Student Education	Bachelor	B.S.
-------------------------------	----------	------

Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement: The Abraham S. Fischler College of Education's programs are licensed by the State of Florida, and by the Nevada Commission on Postsecondary Education. The requirements for educator and administrator certification, licensure, or endorsement differ from state to state. Some states do not grant initial certification/licensure unless transcripts are endorsed as having met that state's approved program requirements. Because these requirements can change frequently and often without notice, it is encouraged, and is the responsibility of the student, to ensure the degree they earn will meet requirements for educator and administrator certification, licensure, or endorsement licensure in the state in which they seek licensure. The Abraham S. Fischler College of Education cannot confirm whether its professional licensure degree programs meets all of the licensure/certification requirements in a student's state of residence and applicants should refer to their state licensing body for further information. A list of appropriate state licensing/certification entity is provided here: <http://www.nova.edu/academics/forms/state-doe-attachment.pdf>