

Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement College of Psychology
Degree Title	Level	Degree
Master of Counseling-Clinical Mental Health Counseling Concentration	Master	M.S.
Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement: Nova Southeastern University, College of Psychology, Master of Counseling, Clinical Mental Health Counseling Concentration meets the educational degree completion requirements for licensure in the state of Florida as a Licensed Mental Health Counselor (LMHC), and certification requirements for the National Certified Counselor (NCC) credential from the National Board for Certified Counselors. Students should note that requirements for professional licensure and certification can vary drastically by state. Because these requirements can change frequently and often without notice, it is strongly encouraged and is the responsibility of the student to ensure the degree they earn will meet requirements for licensure in the state in which they seek to be licensed. The College of Psychology cannot confirm whether its Master of Science in Counseling degree meets all of the licensure and certification requirements in a student’s state of residence. Students should refer to their state licensing and certification body for further information. For licensing board contact information and approval status, please see http://www.nbcc.org/Search/StateBoardDirectory.
Master of Counseling-School Counseling Concentration	Master	M.S.
Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement: Nova Southeastern University, College of Psychology, Master of Counseling, School Counseling Concentration program meets the educational degree certification requirements for Florida Department of Education (DOE). Certification and licensure requirements for school counselors vary by state. Because these requirements can change frequently and often without notice, it is the responsibility of the students to review and to ensure that the degree they earn will meet requirements for certification through the DOE and/or licensure in the state in which they seek to be licensed. The College of Psychology cannot confirm whether its Masters of Counseling, School Counseling Concentration degree meets all of the licensure and certification requirements in a student’s state of residence. Students should refer to their state licensing and certification body for further information. For licensing board contact information and approval status, please see http://www.nbcc.org/Search/StateBoardDirectory. Moreover, school counseling credentialing requirements by state may be found on the American School Counselor Association website through the following link: https://www.schoolcounselor.org/school-counselors-members/careers-roles/state-certification-requirements.

Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement
College of Psychology

Degree Title	Level	Degree
Master of Counseling- Substance Abuse Counseling/Substance Abuse Counseling and Education Concentrations	Master	M.S.

Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement: Nova Southeastern University, College of Psychology cannot confirm whether the Master of Counseling, Substance Abuse Counseling and Substance Abuse Counseling and Education Concentrations meet all of the licensure and certification requirements in a student’s state of residence. Students should note that requirements for professional licensure and certification can vary drastically by state. Because these requirements can change frequently and often without notice, it is strongly encouraged and is the responsibility of the student to ensure the degree they earn will meet requirements for licensure/certification in the state in which they seek to be licensed/certified. Students should refer to their state licensing and certification body for further information. Students interested in pursuing national addictions certification should review requirements of the National Association for Addiction Professionals at www.naadac.org. For information regarding the CAP and MCAP requirements, students should review the requirements for certification at <http://flcertificationboard.org/certificatoin/available-certifications/>. For licensing board contact information and approval status, please see <http://www.nbcc.org/Search/StateBoardDirectory>.

Master of Counseling-Applied Behavioral Analysis Concentration	Master	M.S.
---	---------------	-------------

Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement: Nova Southeastern University, College of Psychology cannot confirm whether the Master of Counseling, Applied Behavioral Analysis Concentration meets all of the licensure and certification requirements in a student’s state of residence. Because these requirements can change frequently and often without notice, it is strongly encouraged and is the responsibility of the student to ensure the degree they earn will meet requirements for licensure/certification in the state in which they seek to be licensed/certified. The Behavior Analyst Certification Board (BACB) makes the final determination as to degree, coursework, experience, and exam eligibility. To remain abreast of certification eligibility requirements, it is recommended that students create an account with the BACB. For information regarding the requirements for certification in Applied Behavior Analysis and/or to register with the BACB, log on to the Board’s website at <http://www.bacb.com>

Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement College of Psychology
Degree Title	Level	Degree
Doctor of Philosophy in Clinical Psychology and Doctor of Psychology in Clinical Psychology	Doctorate	Ph.D/Psy.D.
Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement: Nova Southeastern University, College of Psychology, Doctor of Philosophy and Doctor of Psychology in Clinical Psychology programs are accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA). These programs meet the educational degree completion requirement for licensure as a psychologist in the state of Florida. Students should note that requirements for professional licensure and certification can vary drastically by state. Because these requirements can change frequently and often without notice, it is strongly encouraged and is the responsibility of the student to ensure the degree they earn will meet requirements for licensure in the state in which they seek to be licensed. The College of Psychology cannot confirm whether its Ph.D or Psy.D degrees in Clinical Psychology meet all of the licensure requirements in a student’s state of residence. Students should refer to their state licensing body for further information. Information regarding state, provincial, and territorial agencies responsible for licensure of psychologists throughout the United States and Canada may be obtained through the Association of State and Provisional Psychology Boards (ASPPB), http://www.asppb.net/page/BdContactNewPG.
Doctor of Psychology School Psychology	Doctorate	Psy.D.
Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement: Nova Southeastern University, College of Psychology, Doctorate of Psychology in School Psychology program is accredited by the American Psychological Association (APA). The program meets the requirement for licensure in the state of Florida as a psychologist and certification requirements for the National Association of School Psychologists (NASP) National Certification in School Psychology (NCSP). Because these requirements can change frequently and often without notice, students are strongly encouraged and is their responsibility to ensure that the degree they earn will meet requirements for licensure in the state in which they seek to be licensed. The College of Psychology cannot confirm whether its Doctor of Psychology in School Psychology degree meets all of the licensure and certification requirements in a student’s state of residence. Students should refer to their state licensing and certification body for further information. Information regarding state, provincial, and territorial agencies responsible for licensure and certification of psychologists throughout the United States and Canada may be obtained through the Association of State and Provisional Psychology Boards (ASPPB), http://www.asppb.net/page/BdContactNewPG. Moreover, school psychology credentialing requirements by state may be found on the NASP website through the following link: http://www.nasponline.org/standards-and-certification/state-school-psychology-credentialing-requirements.

Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement College of Psychology
Degree Title	Level	Degree
Specialist in School Psychology	Specialist	Psy.S.
Professional Licensure Disclosure Statement: Nova Southeastern University, College of Psychology, Specialist Program in School Psychology program meets the educational degree certification requirements for Florida Department of Education (DOE) and the National Association of School Psychologists (NASP) National Certification in School Psychology (NCSP). In addition, in Florida, as well as a few other states, graduates who hold the specialist degree are license eligible for independent practice as school psychologists. Certification and licensure requirements for school psychologists vary by state. Because these requirements can change frequently and often without notice, it is the responsibility of the students to review and to ensure that the degree they earn will meet requirements for certification through the DOE and/or licensure in the state in which they seek to be licensed. The College of Psychology cannot confirm whether its Specialist in School Psychology degree meets all of the licensure and certification requirements in a student’s state of residence. Students should refer to their state licensing and certification body for further information. School psychology credentialing requirements by state may be found on the NASP website through the following link: http://www.nasponline.org/standards-and-certification/state-school-psychology-credentialing-requirements.		