**The Star Spangled Banner* ..... Key/Smith

O! say can you see by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there;
O! say does that star-spangled banner yet wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER FOR MORNING CEREMONY

Carlos Curbelo, M.A., is the U.S. representative for Florida's 26th Congressional District. He was elected in 2014 and reelected in 2016. Curbelo serves on the prestigious Committee on Ways and Means, the oldest committee of the U.S. Congress and the chief tax-writing committee in the House of Representatives. He is a majority member of the Subcommittee on Human Resources and Subcommittee on Oversight.

Prior to starting his political career, Curbelo founded Capital Gains, a public and media relations firm. In 2002, fueled by a desire to give back to his community, he cofounded Centre Court Charities, a nonprofit organization that runs summer basketball leagues for South Florida high school students.

Named state director for U.S. Senator George LeMieux in 2009, Curbelo was responsible for overseeing staff in seven offices throughout the state, while also advising the senator on Latin American policy and Hispanic issues. Shortly after, Curbelo was appointed to the Miami-Dade Metropolitan Planning Organization, a group of community leaders tasked with prioritizing local transportation and infrastructure projects.

In 2010, Curbelo was elected to the Miami-Dade County School Board, which oversees the fourth-largest school district in the country. Together with his board colleagues, Curbelo was part of a historic effort to improve the quality of education and put students and teachers first, resulting in major gains in student performance and graduation rates.

Curbelo joined forces with fellow Florida Congressman Ted Deutch in 2016 to form the bipartisan Climate Solutions Caucus, with the goal of finding common ground on policies that can address climate change.

Curbelo was a recipient of the 2017 John F. Kennedy New Frontier Award. Created by the John F. Kennedy Library Foundation and The Institute of Politics at Harvard University, the award honors Americans younger than the age of 40 who are changing their communities and the country with their commitment to public service.

Curbelo graduated from the University of Miami with a B.A. in Business Administration and an M.A. in Public Administration.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER FOR AFTERNOON CEREMONY

Seth M. Siegel, J.D., is a writer, lawyer, activist, and serial entrepreneur.

Best-selling author of Let There Be Water: Israel's Solution for a Water-Starved World, Siegel's book was awarded a bronze medal in its category in the 2016 Axiom Business Book Awards. His essays on water, business, political, and cultural issues have appeared in The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, the Los Angeles Times, The Washington Post, and in leading publications in Europe and Asia. He has spoken on water and other issues around the world at nearly 250 venues, including the U.S. Congress; the United Nations; the World Bank; in Davos, Switzerland; and at Google's headquarters.

Siegel is the Daniel M. Soref Senior Fellow at the University of Wisconsin's Center for Water Policy. He is also a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and a board member of several not-for-profit organizations.

Cofounder of The Beanstalk Group, a global brand extension licensing company, Siegel sold the company to Ford Motor Company in 2001. The business has advised major companies such as Coca-Cola, Harley-Davidson, and Hormel. In connection with his work at Beanstalk, he received the Licensing Industry Merchandiser's Association Award for Excellence nine times. Additionally, he cofounded Sixpoint Partners (a financial services firm) and Vringo (a mobile technologies company).

Siegel also served as a producer for the Tony Award-nominated Broadway revival of Man of La Mancha and as an associate producer for the Emmy Award-winning ABC miniseries, Dinotopia.

Receiving his B.S. from Cornell University in New York, Siegel then went on to complete his graduate studies at Hebrew University of Jerusalem before returning to New York, where he obtained his J.D. from Cornell Law School. In 2010, he received the Jerome Alpern Award, presented annually to an outstanding alumnus by the Cornell University School of Industrial and Labor Relations.

ACADEMIC ATTIRE

Ceremonial garments worn at academic functions take their meaning from the original centers of learning of the western world in the church of the Middle Ages. Caps, hoods, and gowns of the early students and monks have been held through the centuries to be traditionally symbolic of the scholarly devotion so basic to education and to the deliberate and orderly evolution of knowledge.

The introduction of classical studies, the gradual rise of the great universities across Europe, and the ever-increasing awareness of the decisive role of education in the entire development of civilization influenced leaders among academicians in their desire for a singular identity. In the attempt to create this differentiation, educators fell upon the medieval system of classic heraldry, whereby the coat of arms, assorted ornamental trappings, and patterns of colorful design had been adopted to denote the distinctive character of designated chivalric orders. The function of a pedagogical heraldry became, then, simply identification. As such, measures were taken to signify, through distinctive markings on the academicians' attire, the institution that had granted the degree, the field of learning in which the degree had been earned, and the level of the degree, e.g., bachelor's, master's, or doctorate.

Of the three pieces of academic attire—the cap, the gown, and the hood—it is the hood that offers the most abundant and most readily discernible information about its owner. The inner lining of the hood identifies the institution at which the individual earned the degree. Some schools have adopted two-color patterns and introduced chevrons and bars in various designs to set themselves apart from other institutions. The velvet trim bordering the hood indicates the major field of learning, or faculty, in which the degree has been earned. A final feature of the hood concerns its length and width and distinguishes further between holders of bachelor's, master's, and doctoral degrees. The length of the hood for the bachelor's degree is three feet, closed at the bottom, and with a velvet border of two inches. At Nova Southeastern University, however, individuals receiving a bachelor's degree do not wear a hood. A master's degree holder has a hood three-and-one-half feet in length with a three-inch-wide border, and the hood is slit at the bottom. Those individuals with a doctoral degree wear a hood four feet in length, open at the bottom with a five-inch border.

The cut of the gown aids in differentiating between the three levels of degrees. The bachelor's gown is relatively simple and falls in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. It may be recognized most readily by the long, pointed sleeves. The master's gown is somewhat fuller and bears no adornment. The sleeves are oblong in shape and open at the wrist, with the rear part of the oblong square cut while the front edge has a cutaway arc. The doctor's gown is more elaborate, with velvet panels down the front and around the neck of the garment. The sleeves are bell-shaped at the end and have three bars of the same material as the front panels at the upper portion of the arm. It is cut rather fully and may be ornamental in color.

The mortarboard or Oxford-type cap has been adopted throughout most universities in the United States, although tams have become increasingly fashionable to denote holders of the doctoral degree. Colored tassels are usually worn by holders of the bachelor's and master's degrees. These denote the field of learning.

The color, indeed the flamboyance, of academic dress undoubtedly adds to the sense of occasion at academic ceremonies. But as its historical roots show, it has a much deeper significance. It is an outward sign of the universality of universities, and of their responsibility for certain timeless values essential to the freedom of inquiry: tolerance of alternative views and courage in maintaining one's own tirelessness in the pursuit of truth and the free exchange of knowledge. Its wearing marks also the responsibility of the new graduate to maintain and uphold these ideals. These fundamentals of academic freedom have not been threatened in this country for more than 200 years, but the importance attached to the donning of traditional academic dress was underlined in recent years by scholars from Central and Eastern Europe; during the Cold War, their use of academic robes became a symbol of their refusal to be dominated completely by political forces and the state, and symbolized their persistent links to the worldwide community of scholars. Thus, the wearing of academic dress should be seen not simply as a sign of achievement, but as a symbol of the responsibility that falls on all members of universities.

HONORS

Students wear cords, pins, sashes, and medallions that reflect institutional and national academic honors as well as campus leadership, service, and engagement.

MACE

During the Middle Ages, the mace was an effective weapon in battle and also was displayed as a symbol to command order during royal gatherings, religious ceremonies, and university classes. As newer and more powerful military arms were created, however, the mace progressed into a symbol of authority and today is frequently used to lead religious and academic processions.

The mace was originally a wooden staff carried by royal messengers as a symbol to preserve order and usher royal functions. The early wooden staff of such royal messengers or lead ushers of ceremonial processions was transformed in the 14th century into an elaborate sterling silver mace. Eventually in the 15th century it evolved into a symbol of academic excellence and dignity.

THE NOVA SOUTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY MACE

Before its merger in 1994 with Southeastern University of the Health Sciences, Nova University's mace bore a sterling silver "nova star" symbolizing the university's name and mission. Symbolically, Nova University's "nova star" burned brightly, providing educational enlightenment to the world. Today, a new sterling silver mace highlights the past, present, and future through the inclusion of the original "nova star" representing the university's past, surrounding the NSU seal. When not in official use, the mace is displayed in the rotunda of the William and Norma Horvitz Administration Building.

In Latin, nova means new or innovative. Nova Southeastern University was created to be an innovative educational institution—to take the best of traditional education from the past and mold it to fit the needs of students for today and tomorrow.

NOTE: The listing of degree and academic honors candidates in this program is based upon PRELIMINARY information provided by each academic program office at the time of publication. The official conferral of degrees and awarding of academic honors occur upon satisfactory completion of all academic requirements. Publication in this commencement program does not determine degree or honors eligibility or represent an official listing of degree or honors recipients. The student's permanent record, on file in the Office of the University Registrar, remains the official testimony of the possession of a Nova Southeastern University degree.
