WHAT WE OFFER

The Nova Southeastern University (NSU) Family Violence Program offers therapeutic interventions for issues involving all aspects of domestic violence. Individual therapy focuses on a wide variety of common symptoms resulting from abuse, such as depression and anxiety, as well as anger management training to help prevent domestic violence.

We help victims of abuse with
• crisis intervention and victim advocacy management
• identifying and overcoming effects of abuse
• empowerment for nonviolent, egalitarian life choices

Perpetrators of abuse can
• get anger management training
• learn what coercive/violent behaviors are and how to identify their origins
• learn and practice alternative, nonviolent behaviors, social skills, and communication skills
• change attitudes and attributions that perpetrate coercive behaviors

Individuals and groups can benefit from
• therapeutic interventions for anxiety and depression related to a history of trauma or abuse

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

WHAT IS DOMESTIC VIOLENCE?

Any form of coercive action, thought, or feeling imposed on an intimate partner or spouse. This includes
